

Gourmet Pizza Franchise for Sale New Zealand wide

Ready to Own a Slice of HELL?

Join a Kiwi icon delivering premium pizzas and unforgettable experiences.

HELL is an iconic Kiwi-owned brand delivering indulgent dining experiences worth going to HELL for.

With 78 stores across Aotearoa and a 91% franchisee satisfaction rate, HELL has carved out a loyal following over nearly 30 years, because it will never compromise on service or taste. It loves creating iconic, gourmet pizzas using only the best ingredients and free-range meat, so its customers are never left with the taste of regret.

Beyond its commitment to delivering premium pizzas with every order, HELL stores are active within their communities and support community-led initiatives across New Zealand. They work with youth organisations and believe in standing up for the underdog, a core value at the heart of HELL.

It's looking for new owners to join its family - people who want to work with a brand that refuses to settle for the ordinary and want to build something exceptional.

As a HELL Franchisee, you'll get:

- Continual expert training, advice, and support from the central support office
- Group buying power
- Opportunity to be part of business decision-making where franchisees are directly impacted
- Leading marketing and campaign support
- Robust proven systems
- Advanced IT systems
- Loyal customer database
- Opportunity to be part of new product development
- A business without compromise on quality for you or your customers!

HELL franchises become available for sale from time to time, offering the fastest way to join the action. Step into an established store with trained staff, a loyal customer base and a reputation for premium-quality pizzas. Franchisees typically negotiate the sale and purchase directly, with ownership usually transferring within three months after comprehensive training.
